A High Energy Message

Renowned motivational speaker and author, James Amps III rose to national prominence by conveying his “message of action” to more than 550 worldwide corporate and professional audiences, inspiring them to accept responsibility in unleashing their personal greatness.

The Desire to Learn and His Passion to Reach Across the Globe

Amps combined his professional experiences in team building, diversity and executive coaching, and founded AMPS International, LLC (1993), a company with a goal of providing management consulting and organizational development training to corporate, college, federal and the non-profit sectors.

Throughout his life, Amps, with persistence and determination, has undergone a process of endless self-education resulting in his expertise on issues of accountability. He is impelled by a desire to assist others in facing obstacles head on, to achieve their goals; put ideas into action and help them redefine and improve their lives.

Amps served in the US Navy (1980-1986) where he toured Grenada, Lebanon and Bahrain. There he worked as a communications officer. This exposure has leveraged his abilities to attract large audiences comprised mostly of military personnel and employees from fortune 50, 100 and 500 corporations as well as government sectors.

Entrepreneur and Award Winning Speaker

In 2000, Amps was the recipient of the Celebrity Enterprise Speaker of the Year Award. In 2003, he founded the A.M.P.S. Entrepreneurship/Leadership Institute (Advanced Minds Pursuing Success), an organization dedicated to advancing the goals and growth of small businesses leaders, and empowering young entrepreneurs to pursue their dreams of achieving success. He also serves as managing partner of AMPS Entertainment.

Best Selling Author and Celebrity

In Amps’ highly acclaimed book, Speaking to Excel, he lays the groundwork for success in communicating in a businesslike manner by sharing tips and practical methods used by many professional speakers. This interactive publication delivers a message that focuses on holding individuals accountable by concentrating on solutions, not blame.
